

Resident Survival Stories Submission Instructions

Deadline for submissions: May 20, 2019

Access the submission site and log in

All candidates are asked to submit their details in confidence through our special submission site.

Diversity - Training in a world of differences: How it affects Residency Training

Respect for diversity is a core value in medicine and medical training, and a diverse and inclusive environment permeates all aspects of residency training. There are both explicit and hidden issues that residents experience throughout training related to diversity and inclusion.

In 250 words or less, tell us your personal story and how you worked through it. What supports did you have/access? Who did you feel was in a position to help you? Highlight what you think went well, and what you would hope you or others might do differently in a future situation.

Enter a title

Please enter a title as follows: Resident Survival Stories: your full name, e.g., Resident Survival Stories: FirstName, LastName

Upload your story

Please prepare your submission as a one-page Word document (12-point type, maximum 250 words), and upload via the submission site

Brief biosketch

Maximum of 250 words, bullet-form overview of your professional biographical highlights

Presentation type

Resident Survival Stories

Other Information

Please answer all questions to complete your submission.

For any further questions regarding this submission process, please contact the Conference Secretariat at icre@royalcollege.ca